

Bisbee Will Continue To Prosper

And to prove that we truly believe it, we are stacking new goods into every nook and corner of our store room. In fact but little space is left in which to move about. It would puzzle every person in the city to know how it was possible to place such a complete and magnificent stock of drugs in limited space. Never-the-less it is so and we dare say you can get any drug or anything in the drug line with but very few exceptions at our store that is carried in any drug store in the city, and a number of things we carry which absolutely can not be purchased elsewhere.

People who are well bred are careful in the selection of their stationery, knowing this to be true, we have stocked heavily in such goods as Eton Hurlburt, Crane, Blair, etc. Just the cream of every line, and all Bisbee people will appreciate our selections when once seen.

We call your attention especially to the following lines, because you will find positively that they are the most complete in the city: Perfumes, Toilet Waters, Pocket Knives, Hair Brushes and Drugs and Chemicals. This assertion has been carefully weighed and we stand ready to verify it.

COCHISE COUNTY CAVALRY REACH TOMBSTONE IN MARCH

Lieutenant Sheridan And Men In Good Trim.—Are Well Entertained By The People Of Tombstone.

(Special to Review.)

TOMBSTONE, Oct. 4.—Two troops of the United States 5th cavalry, a company of rapid-fire gun men and the usual number of camp supernumeraries, under command of Captain Jenkins, reached Tombstone shortly after noon yesterday and camped here last night. There were in all 150 men in the detachment which is making a long hike from the army post at Fort Huachuca to Fort Apache under special orders.

At Fort Apache, the detachment under Lieutenant Phil Sheridan will be met and on the return trip the entire command will be in the hands of Captain Jenkins.

Tombstone had all the atmosphere of a captured city last night, soldiers in the natty regulation uniforms constituting a generous sprinkling of street gatherings and theatre goers. An impromptu ball was given by the younger set in Gage hall, the music by the superb military orchestra of the famous fighting Fifth being the real treat of the season.

A baseball game between the soldier team and the Tombstone nine was on the card for the afternoon, but owing to the late hour at which the soldiers went into camp this feature of the entertainment proffered by Tombstone to the hiking regulars had to be foregone. An athletic treat was thus missed, it is thought by lovers of the game, for it was the 5th cavalry team which put up such a splendid game here against the locals earlier in the season.

The county seat was put on the quiver early in the afternoon by the arrival of three scouts who came in on the gallop. They were soon followed by the "chuck" and supply wagons, the troops jogging in later in double file.

A striking feature of the cavalcade that could not go unnoticed was the fine exhibition of horsemanship. With the exception of Captain McClure, who rode a handsome sorrel, the remainder of the riders sat astride coal black chargers.

The march from Fort Huachuca to Fort Apache has a two-fold purpose, the principal one being at this time to try to locate a more advantageous route between the two army posts, while secondly the march is one of the regular ones now compulsory in Uncle Sam's army to keep the men in touch with real army life and its inevitable rough side. Hence, the march is made with all the "fixin's" that go to make it as near like one in actual warfare as possible.

A singular incident that attracted the Review man's notice followed closely on the heels of the guard mount. Those of the men who wished to spend the evening about town ranged in line before a non-command and each after clicking his gun hammer on empty chambers, sung out the number of his weapon and his name. Immediately this formality was passed through, the owner deposited his "smoke pole" and was at liberty to "do the town" as best suited him.

It is a noticeable fact that there is not an old face in the Fifth. Even the officers at the head of the troops are young men, apparently under the "prime" age.

The "gun men," as the privates call them, are a new department in the cavalry of the nation. The duties of this troop consist in not only handling the entire ammunition of the marching soldiers, but have in charge the light, modern rapid fire pieces, in the quick setting up of which they are particularly drilled. It is thought this departure is a measured success and has added much to the efficiency of our cavalry.

Captain Jenkins broke camp early this morning and by seven o'clock the entire command was en route to Pearce, where they will make their midday stop.

One Indian scout accompanied the troops.

BECOMES A MONK.

George Fisher, a newspaper writer, well known throughout the entire west, has just entered the monastery of the Trappist Order at New Mellary, near Dubuque, Ia., where he will in a short time take the gown and comb of the Trappist monks.

Fisher had been staff writer on the Inter-Ocean of Chicago for a number of years and his writings along legal lines were considered authorities, he having been educated and graduated in the profession of a lawyer. Some of his work has appeared in Los Angeles papers at various times.

A success in the journalistic field, he however, tired of the hard grind and the strenuous duties frequently entailed and several months ago made application for membership in the Trappists at Gettysburg, Ky., and was placed on probation, being accepted finally as a member of the order last week.

HUNTINGTON IS ILL; QUILTS THE HARNESS

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Certain financial circles have been much exercised during the past few days about reports of the physical condition of H. E. Huntington, the street railway magnate of Los Angeles.

The statements as to his condition vary from the most pessimistic assertions to the effect that he is incapacitated for business and is in a most precarious condition, to the other extreme, that he is simply in need of rest and is taking it.

Sifted down to the admitted facts, all that is absolutely known is that Mr. Huntington arrived here from California a short time ago and went immediately to the family home at Onocoma in this state, where his sister resides.

Those closely associated with him, say that he had suffered for some time last winter with severe attacks of rheumatism and that the remedies he took slightly affected his stomach and kidneys. The stress of his accustomed hard work under these conditions was found too much for his well-being and, on the advice of his physicians, he decided to relinquish all but the most necessary details of his multifarious business interests for a period of a month. This statement ended with the remark: "There is absolutely nothing serious about Mr. Huntington's condition."

From the alarmist side, however, comes the intimation, though without definite authority, that Mr. Huntington is on the verge of a collapse physically; that his digestion is impaired to the extent of making proper assimilation of his food difficult, and that other organs besides his stomach are involved. One report has it that his doctor has ordered him to give up business cares absolutely for three months at least.
